

Searching for Sequoyah is the first documentary feature to chronicle the legendary accomplishments and mysterious death of the famed 19th century Cherokee visionary, Sequoyah (George Guess). While much is known about Sequoyah's many accomplishments, very little is known about the man himself. The greatest mystery is not that he created the Cherokee writing system, but rather the details of his final journey to Mexico and the circumstances of his death. After removal from their homelands in the 1830s separated some Cherokees as far as Mexico, Sequoyah set out late in life to reunite the Cherokee people. From Taskigi, Tennessee to Zaragoza, Mexico - Searching for Sequoyah takes viewers on a journey retracing Sequoyah's final quest, the mystery surrounding his death and the legacy he left behind.
